We have enjoyed learning about the value 'Tolerance' this month. In Upper Key Stage 2 the children have been researching Rosa Parks and other famous people during Black History month; their stories and poems on equal rights and slavery demonstrated our value perfectly. Across the school, children have been practising the skill of tolerance in the playground and in their everyday actions. We have been very proud of the children's achievements as tolerance isn't always easy.

This week we celebrated World Values Day....

- Encourage your child to carry out a RAK – how does it make them feel? (Random Act of Kindness)
- Ask your child about Tolerance... how have they researched this value at school this month? How do they display this value?
- Have a go at drawing a picture, writing a poem or story about your favourite value- Mrs Holloway would love to see them and display them around the school!
- Feedback on our school values is always welcome and very much appreciated. Please feel free to email the school office for the attention of Emily Holloway.
